French close Sorbonne, evict student protesters

Rocky sees new role for Shafer

HARRISBURG (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller asked Gov. Shafer Sunday to play a large and active role in his nationwide campaign for the presidency, sources close to Shafer reported.

Rockefeller spoke with Shafer by telephone after the Pennsylvania chief executive had endorsed him on national television for the Republican presidential nomination.

"I want you with me, right down to the end now, Ray," Rockefeller was said to have told Shafer.

The high sources said that in addition to having Shafer travel around the country on his behalf, Rockefeller wants him intimately involved in the campaign planning and coordination in Pennsylvania.

Initially, Shafer is to accompany Rockefeller in Philadelphia Monday night for a meeting with Central and Eastern Pennsylvania members of the 64-member delegation to the GOP National Convention.

White Shafer had no firm estimate, it was believed that 45 to 50 of the delegates would back Rockefeller. Pennsylvania will have the third largest delegation at the convention.

Shafer advised former vice president Richard M. Nixon of his decision Friday night. He also had a telephone conversation that same evening with former president Dwight D. Eisenhower at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

Shafer is reported to have told Nixon that he would not participate in a divisive campaign in supporting Rockefeller's presidential aspirations.

The Pennsylvania governor and his staff also advised most of the Pennsylvania delegates of his decision by telephone Friday.

Rebels in building for month

PARIS (AP) — The government ordered the Sorbonne closed Sunday and a massive force of police evicted student rebels who had occupied the school more than a month. The students left quietly but fights broke out in the surrounding Latin Quarter.

The Sorbonne school of the University of Paris was the second major building lost to students in three days and they seemed to recognize its importance as a symbol of their revolt. Defying a ban on demonstrations, hundreds of youths closed in on the school, shouting, "Liberate the Sorbonne!"

Riot police charged with tear gas and noise grenades. A group of demonstrators took refuge in the university's science school a half-mile away.

Students were still holding virtually nonstop meetings in the science school and school of medicine in Paris, and at many provincial universities occupied at the start of the social and political convulsion from which France is now recovering. With the Sorbonne in government hands, however, further moves to restore order among the students seemed likely.

In a gesture of conciliation, the Education Ministry announced it would begin talks Monday with teachers and students on the demands for university modernization that motivated the student revolt.

Police raised the French tricolor over the school and reported they collected several hundred clubs, pick handles and iron bars along with chains, gas masks, helmets, gasoline for Molotov cocktails, garbage-can cover shields and hundreds of leftist pamphlets and posters. They said no firearms were found.

Outside, students hurled paving stones and chunks of asphalt at police in scattered battles that lasted about three hours in drizzling rain.

Several students and policemen were reported injured. One report said a policeman was stabbed.

Near the Odeon Theater, cleared of student lodgers Friday, demonstrators pushed five empty city buses across a street as a barricade but were driven off by police.

Students who earlier had refused to leave the big Sorbonne building filed out carrying their belongings after officials told them they would be searched for arms but not arrested.

The Interior Ministry reported the school had been "evacuated without incident." Student leaders had claimed there were 500 occupiers inside but some reports said police found only 136.

In its announcement earlier in the day, the government said the Sorbonne, Paris University's school of letters and the principal remaining center of the student rebellion, would be closed for several days and then re-open for classes.

After the announcement, 3,000 to 5,000 students and onlookers and squads of police gathered in the Latin Quarter, where bloody rioting last month touched off a widespread general strike and a government crisis.

Some youths shouted, "Provocation!" and, "The Sorbonne belongs to the students!" and shook their fists. Others distributed flowers to police and passers-by. A column of police buses arriving in the quarter was covered with poppies and daisies.

Police had kept hands off the Sorbonne since it was occupied May 13, and the school became a haven for students injured in riots. Endless debates were conducted in lecture halls and leftist and anarchist literature was sold in the big courtyard. Black and red flags flew over the building.

Letters favoring gun laws flood Schweiker's office

By ELLIOT BROWN
Pocono Record Reporter

TAMMINGTON — More than 500 letters, practically all of them calling for tighter gun legislation, have flooded the offices of U.S. Representative Richard S. Schweiker, who is shooting for a place on the U.S. Senate this November.

Schweiker, who will speak this morning at the Pennsylvania Township Commissioners Convention at Tamiment, told the Pocono Record Sunday that his office is currently drawing up additional gun control legislation.

The Republican from Montgomery County said "For some years, I have felt that three classes of people should not be allowed to have guns: those with criminal records, mental infirmities or mental illness, and juveniles without parental consent."

He said that he would announce his position by the end of this week, and that his legislation would try to meet his three principles.

"I supported and voted for the handgun bill," Schweiker said, "I'm not sure how much additional legislation is needed or what form it should take, but the recent tragedy dramatizes the need for more."

Schweiker, who is opposing Democratic incumbent Joseph Clark, said he was "disappointed" at the lack of progress in the Paris peace talks.

"Hanoi is stalling in coming forth with action to meet our bombing halt," Schweiker said. "I hope they'll change their minds, or the talks could fail."

Schweiker said he was absolutely in favor of the talks and the deescalation program. He said he was one of nine Republican Congressmen who last year proposed a similar deescalation program to Ambassador W. Averill Harriman.

"The deescalation plan is based on mutual and reciprocal action," Schweiker said. "The lack of it could break up the talks. But only the President being privy to the talks, can decide when this has occurred. I will go along with him."

Schweiker hit at Clark for his

Ike comfortable after seizure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower suffered another heart attack Saturday night and his condition was described as stable Sunday by authorities at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

The 77-year-old five-star general was stricken anew while recuperating in the hospital from a mild heart seizure which hit him April 29 at his winter home in Palm Desert, Calif.

"The general spent a comfortable night and his present condition is stable," said the hospital announcement of Eisenhower's fourth heart attack since the first, a major one, incapacitated him for seven weeks in 1955 during his first term as president.

The hospital disclosed Sunday morning that Eisenhower "suffered another coronary heart attack last evening at approximately 9 p.m." (EDT).

Although officials refused to give any clinical details, there were indications that his physicians may not regard his condition as grave at this time.

One evidence of this was the word that no further announcement was planned until 10 a.m. Monday. In some of his past illnesses bulletins have been issued at much more frequent intervals.

This seemed to imply that the doctors expect he will be able to make this move at some later date.

Still, any heart attack must be regarded as a serious matter, especially for a patient of Eisenhower's age and with his medical history.

Blonde with southern drawl chosen Miss Pennsylvania

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — A striking blonde with a slight southern drawl, a legacy of her former home in Tennessee, was crowned Miss Pennsylvania of 1968 Saturday, winning out over 20 other beauties.

Susan Robinson, a native of Lookout Mountain, Tenn., and a graduate of Carnegie-Mellon University at Pittsburgh, shed no tears as she accepted the crown, which is her ticket into the Miss America pageant at Atlantic City this fall.

Competing as Miss Allegheny

County, Susan, 21, won out over Miss Philadelphia, Doris Ann Lausch, also 21, a Temple University junior, who was named first runnerup.

Miss Robinson took home, along with her state crown, a $1,000 scholarship and a special, four-year scholarship offered by Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, good at the University of Pittsburgh, the University of Pennsylvania or Temple University.

The new Miss Pennsylvania said she hoped to use the scholarships to continue her studies in languages, her major at Carnegie-Mellon.

Still flushed with excitement, Susan said: "I haven't really made up my mind on what I want to do."

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. Robinson, still live at Lookout Mountain, where her father is a pharmacist.

In the talent portion of the contest, Susan offered a comedy monologue, in hillbilly dialect, entitled, "Sis Hopkins and Her Beau Bilious."

Miss Downey, who won a $300 scholarship, offered a medley from the hit show "South Pacific."

The other three runnerups, who all receive $250 scholarships, were:

Miss Lehigh Valley, Jane Ellen Ternigan, 20, Allentown; Miss York County, Kathy Valera Seitz, 18, Felton; and Miss Lancaster County, Gail Rabold, 18, of Ephrata.

U.S. to stop Viet Cong rocket attacks

SAIGON (AP) — Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, new U.S. commander in Vietnam, said Sunday "we are going to put a stop" to the Viet Cong rocket attacks on Saigon "because we have to stop them, and we have the means to stop them."

Abrams did not elaborate, but it was reported that new, top-secret electronic devices have been installed within the past week that provide quick detection of enemy firing positions and give radar-controlled guidance for counterfire.

Abrams talked briefly with newsmen at a military ceremony installing Vietnamese Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Minh as commander of the Saigon military district.

Darlene found contest exciting

STROUDSBURG — The glamour, excitement and honor of participating in Pennsylvania's Beauty Pageant Sunday still captivated Darlene Ann Edinger of Stroudsburg, who vied for the Miss Pennsylvania title Saturday as Miss Wyoming Valley.

The brown-haired, brown-eyed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Edinger of 27 Greene St., Stroudsburg, returned home from the pageant at Hershey at 4:15 a.m. Sunday.

"I'm excited yet," she said. "Even though I didn't make top 10, I was so excited just being in and honored to represent the Stroudsburgs and Wyoming Valley."

The soft-voiced Darlene missed her own graduation from Stroudsburg High School because of her participation in the beauty pageant.

"Wednesday night I felt bad about missing graduation," she said. "As a matter of fact, I thought about them." She had left for Hershey last Tuesday.

"It was well worth it," she said of her participation in the pageant, "but I still wish I would have been home."

Darlene who during the talent portion of the pageant did a tumbling and ballet routine, will enter East Stroudsburg State College this fall where she will major in physical education.

Poor diets caused by ignorance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Agriculture Committee concludes in a report that there is very little actual hunger in the United States but there is widespread malnutrition caused largely by poor people's ignorance.

The 79-page document made public Sunday is based on and contains replies from health officials in 131 counties in 19 states.

"In not one single county of those responding were there current cases of starvation reported and few instances of hunger as a result of inability to buy food or receive public assistance, but in many there were stories of people, especially children, suffering malnutrition," the report says.

It continues: "The few reported cases of starvation which had occurred in the past were believed to have resulted from deliberate negligence by parents."

"Almost all of the hunger and malnutrition cases were blamed on ignorance by parents as to what constituted a balanced diet."

"Several instances were reported of welfare clients throwing to the dogs foods which they themselves could be eating but were not eating because they simply had no knowledge of nutritional requirements and did not like the particular food which had been provided them."

Wallace opposes gun legislation

BOSTON (AP) — Former Gov. George Wallace of Alabama, opposing the idea of federal gun control legislation, said Sunday the way to prevent killings is "to let the police enforce the laws" already written.

And, he told a news conference, it would help prevent homicide if "we would reverse some of the decisions of the federal courts which make it impossible to enforce the law."

The third-party presidential candidate flew to Boston to put in a plug for his petition drive to get on the presidential ballot in Massachusetts. His campaign is just getting underway in this state and Connecticut, Maine and Maryland.

Earlier in the day, Wallace appeared on ABC television's "Issues and Answers" in Washington.

He told newsmen at Logan International Airport in Boston that he had already met the qualifications to get on the ballot in 25 states, and he expects to qualify in at least 10 other states within the next 30 days.

George C. Wallace

He was greeted at the airport by a crowd of between two and three hundred persons.

West Berliners to protest restrictive bans on travel

BERLIN (AP) — West Berliners prepared to commemorate the anniversary Monday of the anti-Soviet uprising in East Germany in 1953 and to demonstrate against new Communist restrictions on travel to this isolated city and West Germany.

Traffic to and from West Berlin was reported normal Sunday. Police said motorists waited the usual half-hour while East German officials checked documents and collected visa fees and increased freight charges on the autobahn between West Berlin and West German territory.

The United States, Britain and France have protested the East German action which also will require West Germans and West Berliners to have passports by July 15 to travel across East German territory.

Outbound traffic Saturday was slowed to a crawl when masses of Berliners were subjected to the newly enforced East German regulations.

Officials in Berlin and along the West German border were bracing for more massive tie-ups when traffic to and from the city builds up at the end of the holiday weekend.

A West Berlin police spokesman said the peak of that travel could come late Monday or early Tuesday when regular heavy truck traffic is resumed.

Monday is the 15th anniversary of the East German workers revolt that was put down by Russian tanks. It is a West German holiday.

The Social Democratic party will hold a commemorative rally near the Communist wall dividing the city Monday night.

Reagan leans toward Nixon

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — California Gov. Ronald Reagan said Sunday he tends "to view the solutions to national problems more in line with Richard Nixon perhaps than with Nelson Rockefeller."

Reagan, who heads the California delegation to the Republican National Convention as a "favorite son" nominee, was asked whether he could "make common ground" with either of the two announced candidates for the GOP presidential nomination.

"I've asked all our delegates to not give any opinion as to who they might favor," he said, adding that he felt he should do the same.

However, when asked whether he shared the "political philosophy" of either the former vice president or the New York governor, Reagan mentioned Vietnam and "involvement of government in domestic affairs" and said, in these areas, "I tend to view the solutions to national problems more in line with Richard Nixon perhaps than with Nelson Rockefeller."

He made the remarks on CBS' "Face the Nation" television program, taped in Tulsa Saturday for showing Sunday.

Later in the 30-minute program Reagan said, "both Richard Nixon and I have spoken out against the limited war, against the 'no-win' policy" in Vietnam."

"My impression is that perhaps Nelson is placing a little more faith in negotiations..."

The California governor said his remarks should not be taken as an indication he favors Nixon, adding, "in governors' conferences, Gov. Rockefeller and I have been in agreement many times across the table."

Told that many observers during the two-day national Republican governors conference in Tulsa felt he had "acted like a candidate" himself, Reagan said, "I would be hard put to know where anyone got that idea."

Asked whether he would be interested in either the presidential or vice presidential nomination, he replied: "Well, I'm certainly not a contender for the latter—the vice presidential nomination."

He then said he "technically" is a contender for the presidential nomination because he is the favorite son nominee of the California delegation.

Under repeated questioning about his presidential aspirations, Reagan said, "This job seeks, rather than someone seeking it." He said he had "done nothing" to encourage speculation that he is seeking the nomination.

17-year-old youth's body found in bottom of Pen Argyl quarry

PEN ARGYL — The body of 17-year-old Joseph Savage of Pen Argyl was recovered 1:15 p.m. Sunday in the 217 foot dark and murky depths of an abandoned water-filled slate quarry in Pen Argyl.

The youth slipped and plunged into the quarry while fishing 1:45 p.m. Friday afternoon with his 12-year-old brother, James.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Savage of 607 George St., Pen Argyl, was pronounced dead at the scene yesterday by Northampton County Coroner Joseph Reichel.

Reichel issued a verdict of accidental death due to drowning.

Heart condition
Salvation Army Captain Rex Worthy, Stroudsburg, who knew the family, said that Mrs. Beatrice Savage, the victim's mother, told him Saturday that her son had a severe heart condition and was not expected to live long.

The mother said, Capt. Worthy explained, that the shock of falling into the water-filled Eureka Slate Quarry and the cold water, may possibly have stopped his heart.

The Telford Rescue Diving Team and Garden State Fire Co., Milford, N.J., were immediately called to the scene Friday afternoon by Pen Argyl Police Chief Dwayne Honey.

Pen Argyl Mayor John Dally acquired a bulldozer and carved a road from the top of the quarry near the nearly 250 feet wide water-filled quarry to allow easy access for emergency equipment.

Divers searched
Scuba Divers from the Garden State department plunged into the cold water, but

The body of Joseph Savage, 17, was found about 20 yards from where rescue workers are removing the rowboat from the Eureka Slate Quarry.

It was first believed the youth plunged into the water where the men are standing.

were unsuccessful in locating the body.

The Telford Rescue team, equipped with deep sea diving suits, went into the quarry late Friday night but were unsuccessful in the search.

The victim's younger brother, who had held Joseph by the hand in an attempt to save him, was brought in the scene yesterday to show rescue workers exactly where his brother plunged into the water.

James pointed to a steep embankment about 20 yards from where rescue operations had been concentrated.

Quick discovery
Ray Rakowski from the Telford rescue team, clad in a hard hat diving suit, went into the water where James said his brother fell and brought the victim's body to the surface a few minutes later.

Mayor Dally said that the victim had been lying on the bottom of the quarry. The quarry at first was thought to be about 200 feet deep.

Nearly 15 men from the Garden State and Telford rescue teams arrived at the scene Friday afternoon. The search was discontinued at 11:30 p.m. Friday and was resumed again Saturday.

Mayor Dally on Saturday carved another road through the slate nearer to the water-filled quarry to provide easier access.

Search operations were called off early Saturday evening due to lightning storms.

Capt. Worthy said that Savage was a general farm hand laborer. He moved to Pen Argyl about five months ago and had planned to move to the Wind Gap area yesterday.

Funeral services will be Wednesday in the Shifler Funeral Home, Waymart. Burial will be in St. Patrick's Catholic Cemetery, South Canaan.

He was born in Waymart, the son of Stephen and Beatrice Hill Savage.

He is survived by two brothers, Stephen Jr., and James, both of Pen Argyl; one sister, Miss Jeanette Savage, Pen Argyl; one half sister, Mrs. Louis Prickett, Ogdensburg, N.J.; paternal grandfather, John Savage, Waymart and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hill, Stillwater, N.J.

Local arrangements were made by the Swoyer Funeral Home, Pen Argyl.

Slate Belt Pleasant Valley crimes net $21,000 pay plan proposed

BANGOR — A total $ 21,255 in cash, weapons, jewelry, watches and coin collection was netted in three different burglaries throughout the Slate Belt during the past week.

Thieves stole an estimated $18,000 in cash and coin collections from a basement safe in the home of Lewis Perinotto of 16 N. Schanck Ave., Pen Argyl. Pen Argyl Police Chief Dwayne Honey reported the theft occurred between 8:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Burglars also entered the home of Dr. Frank DeLentis of Bangor, R.D. 3 and stole $2,605 worth of weapons, watches and jewelry. State Police at Easton said the theft occurred late Thursday night or early Friday morning.

About $650 in cash and change was taken from a safe at the Bangor Area Senior High School late Wednesday or early Thursday. The safe was located in the principal's office. More than $1,000 was stolen from the same safe last April 25.

BRODHEADSVILLE — A new salary schedule, boosting the present starting salary from $5,100 to $5,400 may become official at the regular meeting of the Pleasant Valley School Board on June 27.

The new salary scale has reportedly been received favorably by the Pleasant Valley Education Association and will go to $8,400 in 11 steps for holders of bachelor degrees.

Maximum $8,800

An additional $100 is added for a maximum of $8,800 at the 15th year of experience and each five years thereafter to the 30th year. After 35 years, an additional $100 is allocated to a maximum of $9,300.

There will be 12 steps for master degree holders salaries which will range from $5,400 to $9,000 and with the bonus increments for experience the schedule will reach $9,900 maximum after 35 years.

In vocational education, holders of bachelor degrees will start with $6,550 with a maximum of $10,550 after 35 years and 11 increments of $300 each.

Tax increase

The cost of the new schedule was estimated at $48,644.44 and despite this increase, the board plans to adopt a budget which calls for a two-mill decrease in real estate taxes.

Teachers will also receive a term life insurance policy and will continue to receive $75 payment towards costs of Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

Three area men graduate at academy

HARRISBURG — Three area men are among the 167-member class to be graduated Wednesday, June 19, from State Police Academy.

The men are Philip R. Viglione of 242½ Washington Blvd., Bangor; Ronald Soja, 207 Russell St., Honesdale, and Clark A. Ritter, 314 N. Fourth St., Lehigh.

During the three months of training at the academy the men received 575 hours of classroom instruction and an additional 126 hours of physical training and police skills.

Bangor man Colorado U. teacher

BANGOR — William H. Spangenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Armon M. Williams of 127 South Third St., Bangor has been granted a teaching assistantship at the University of Colorado in Boulder, Colo.

The 1964 graduate of Bangor High School will be teaching physics and astrophysics and this summer is working in the High Altitude Observatory at the University which is a government installation for atmospheric research.

Spangenberg was graduated summa cum laude from Gettysburg College on June 2 with a B.A. in physics, was valedictorian and received physics departmental honors.

COLITIS

By Dr. Thomas F. Snyder, D.C.
Colitis is a nervous irritation of the large intestine, with symptoms of pain or heaviness in the abdomen, a feeling of bloating or shreds of mucus in the stool, often associated with diarrhea, on arising especially, and followed by chronic constipation.

The Disease can progress until the bowel becomes ulcerated and blood may be found in the stool. Lowered resistance and nervous tension are common causes of colitis which explains why the movement of excretion and absorption in the bowels are disturbed, since the nervous system is not controlling the process normally.

It is through the nervous mechanism of the body that Chiropractic reaches and benefits the constipation and colitis.

(One of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the scientific practice of Chiropractic, written by Dr. Thomas F. Snyder, D.C., Brodheadsville, Pa., Phone: 992-4787.)

Bill to curb drunken driving

The highway committee of the Pennsylvania State Senate is currently preparing a bill for debate that is geared to sweep drivers under the influence of intoxicants off the Commonwealth's highways.

It is a far reaching bill and is numbered 1413, and is co-sponsored by Sen. T. Newell Wood, chairman of the finance committee; Marvin V. Keller, chairman of the highways committee; Stanley G. Stroup, majority floor leader; George N. Wade, chairman of the appropriations committee; and John H. Ware, chairman of the Senate Republican caucus.

The bill appears to have teeth and if approved could bite a lot of people.

As an example, one of the provisions of the legislation states that the issuance of a driver's license automatically carries with it the consent to undergo chemical tests at any time to determine whether the license owner is driving while intoxicated.

The bill also provides that the breath, blood or urine of a suspected drunken driver may also be tested. The legislation further reduces from the present 15 per cent or more to 10 per cent or more the amount of alcohol in the blood to indicate a finding of intoxication. The driver will be presumed to be sober if the results show five per cent or less of alcohol in the blood.

Another important provision in the bill states that results of tests for intoxication will be admissible in court. Refusal to submit to tests would also be considered in court.

The proposed legislation appears to have a two-fisted attack and certainly will assist in curtailing the spiraling number of accidents on state highways.

We favor any type of legislation that can cut down the number of accidents on our highways and in so doing reduce death, suffering and loss of property. We strongly favor passage of this bill because drivers under the influence of intoxicants contribute greatly to our annual accident toll.

New problem arises

The "Poor People's March" and other anti-poverty movements now in full swing throughout the United States are causing a number of other problems that may not be visible on the surface.

However, industry is feeling a pinch at the present time among low salaried employees. The same feeling is being felt in schools, among non-teaching employees, and in other walks of life where lower salaries are paid.

The feeling stems from the fact that suddenly a "something for nothing" attitude has made itself very present. This feeling is currently seeping into localities of lower paid employees.

Those who are being generated by this feeling maintain that the government is suddenly doing something for those who won't work or who will work only on a temporary basis. The low-income group suddenly feels that it is being punished for working full time.

Members of this group point to those in the "Poor People's March" camping in Washington, where they are being supported by both government and private funds — without doing any work.

There are other instances too, where the person who won't work, at least not on a steady basis, is receiving special treatment, special upkeep and special instruction.

Suddenly the government finds another unhappy group on its hands—a situation which the United States can't stand at this time.

Now is the time for thought and action—not after the problem becomes so bad that it will be doubly costly to solve.

There's never a dull moment in times when excitement dominates—be it good or bad.

Light side

With Gene Brown

A judge told two reckless drivers who were involved in an accident:

"I want to commend you two careless drivers for smashing into each other instead of innocent persons. If this sort of thing can be encouraged, we may have hit upon solutions to a serious problem."

There is a proverb from the Middle East which says: "A foolish man may be known by six things: Anger without cause, speech without profit, change without progress, inquiry without object, putting trust in a stranger, and mistaking foe for friends."

Overhead:

Long-haired girl to long-haired boy: "Of course Dad doesn't mind our being alone together. He thinks you're a girl."

He: I've got a wonderful idea. Why don't you come up to my apartment. We'll have a quiet supper by candlelight; play a few records, then around midnight we'll open a bottle of champagne and toast the New Year!

She: But New Year's is six months away.

He: You don't have to leave early, do you?

The Allen-Scott Report

New foreign aid issue

WASHINGTON — The powerful congressional bloc opposing the voting of more billions for foreign aid is injecting a new issue into the closely contested controversy.

The point is being strongly made that some of the principal beneficiaries of United States aid and some of the harshest foes of the U.S. are heavily in arrears in payments for the maintenance of the United Nations, its various agencies and peacekeeping forces. Foremost among these unpublishable debtors, as of March 31, 1968, are:

Russia — which soars to the top of the list with an astounding unpaid total of $80.106 million. Of this amount, $13.217 million is owing on the regular UN budget; $39.223 million on the United Nations Congo account; $27.665 million on the U.N. Emergency Force.

The seven other Iron Curtain countries owe an additional $28.392 million — making a combined total for the Communist bloc of $108.498 million. Topping the satellite list is the Ukraine with $9.778 million; Poland, $5.766 million; Czechoslovakia, $5.208 million; Hungary $2.713 million; Rumania, $1.518 million.

France — Which owes the U.S. around seven billion dollars in World War I debts, and to which the U.S. gave some nine billion dollars in economic and military aid following World War II — $17.796 million. This U.N. indebtedness was accumulated under President DeGaulle, who has made utmost use of the U.N. to criticize, harass and oppose the U.S.

Nationalist China — $21.848 million, of which $9.886 million is in unpaid budget dues; $5.687 million on the U.N. Congo account; $5.274 million on the U.N. Emergency Force. The Chiang Kai-shek regime, the beneficiary of more than five billion in U.S. aid, is still getting a considerable amount of such assistance.

Other sizable U.N. debtors are — Argentina, $2.69 million; Mexico, $1.465 million; Cuba, $907,875; United Arab Republic, $400,333; Yugoslavia, $340,867; Venezuela, $557,256; the Philippines, $367,787; Peru, $287,925; India, $187,545; Pakistan, $140,000; Saudi Arabia, $144,377.

More jolting facts

In citing these little-known figures, Rep. Vernon Thomson, R-Wis., influential member of the Foreign Affairs Committee who is demanding drastic foreign aid curtailment, stressed the following significant contrasts:

Of the 122 United Nations members, only 37 are not in arrears. That is, less than one-third of the membership has paid all its obligations.

The remaining 85 owe an overall total of $172.079 million. Of this, 56 owe $82.107 million on the U.N. Congo account; 76, $55.813 million on the U.N. Emergency Force; and 59, $34.145 million on the regular budget.

But the United States, in the five years 1963-1967, paid into the U.N. and its various agencies and activities the huge total of $538.301 million. Of that, $54.915 million was for the regular budget; $303.662 million for specialized agencies, and $79.784 million for peacekeeping forces.

This immense U.S. contribution is well over one-third of the U.N.'s total income.

Long needed crackdown

Rep. Thomson vigorously contends that U.N. members, big and small, in default on their payments should be barred from participating and voting.

The former Wisconsin governor points out that the World Court in an advisory opinion held that "operations of the United Nations in the Congo and Middle East were 'expenses of the organization which should be borne by the members as apportioned by the General Assembly.'"

"When the U.N. decided that 'peacekeeping efforts' were essential to the fulfillment of the U.N.'s objectives," Thomson said, "it was assumed that the collective financial responsibility of member nations would apply to that activity. But certain nations have refused to observe the law or abide by it, and our government not wishing to 'have the work of the General Assembly immobilized in these troubled days,' has assumed a permissive attitude and refused to insist on observance of the law."

"The result is that Russia, which should be denied a vote because it is more than $80 million in arrears, and the many other countries also in default, are still permitted to participate and vote even though they flout the very law under which the United Nations is organized."

"It is little wonder that respect for our government has declined. It is little wonder that lawlessness increases when responsible officials of our government here at home and in international deliberations demonstrate our lack of moral commitment and confirm that we have an over-supply of weak knees."

"The biggest surplus in the American government today is weak knees. The moral courage which inspired the American dream of government under law has become so eroded that this nation and the world are faced with the choice of military government or anarchy."

"A permissive society has developed under which terror tactics and destruction are condoned as instruments of social reform. Civil wrongs are encouraged as means of achieving civil rights, and large segments of society assume the right to determine which laws they will obey and which they will ignore."

"This lack of determined adherence to the moral idealism of respect for law as the only means of providing freedom and justice for all makes government appear impotent and our cities suffer under the rule of the jungle."

Don MacLean

If it could only fly

WASHINGTON—We were sitting in a downtown theater here the other night when, in addition to the regular feature, we were treated to a short subject. It was in praise of the P-111 (TFX), which has had an unfortunate career in combat and is not thought to be too air-worthy by those who must fly it.

On the screen the P-111 flashes by, while a deep voice says, "This plane can fly nonstop across the Atlantic Ocean!" (So could Lindbergh's.) The voice continues, "This plane can drop bombs from low altitudes; this plane...etc., etc." The short subject is truthful to the extent that nowhere does it assert that the P-111 can do any of these things very well.

I assumed that the short was cranked out for propaganda purposes by the Defense Department, but at the end, I saw that the producer was General Dynamics. Judging from the film, the P-111 seems capable of marvelous maneuvers when it manages to stay airborne for any length of time.

A farmer wrote to the Brule County News in South Dakota that in 1935 he sold oats for 60 cents per bushel and barley for $1.30 per bushel. His latest sale of those crops got him 64 cents for a bushel of oats and 95 cents for a bushel of barley. And people wonder why farmers are unhappy.

There is a long-established, fairly well-known outfit called the Small Business Assn. Now, I learn that in New England there is something called the Smaller Business Assn. To my knowledge, however, no one has yet founded the ultimate organization of this kind the Smallest Business Assn.

We asked one Congressman what plans he'd made to greet some of his Indian constituents who were marching on Washington with the Poor People. He said, "Maybe we should pull the wagons into a circle."

The law says that all cigarettes sold in the United States must carry the warning, "Caution: Cigarette Smoking May Be Hazardous to Your Health." But our noble cigarette companies, sticking to the letter of the law, do not put this warning on cigarettes sold for export, sold at sea from ships' store or sold to our servicemen overseas.

Perhaps Congress should move to close this little loophole.

Harris Survey

American people perplexed over remedies for violence

By LOUIS HARRIS

Apart from a profound sense of sadness, the Kennedy tragedy has left the American people deeply perplexed about the remedies for violence. Support for laws requiring registration of all guns has risen from 71 to 81 per cent since the assassination, but 45 per cent of the people also hold the view that "control of guns might not cut down on violence at all."

While 90 per cent feel strongly that violence should be done away with in our national life, an even higher 93 per cent agree that "individual shootings can happen any time because it only takes one madman to shoot another."

By 66 to 22 per cent, Americans reject the oft-repeated theory that "we have violence because it is built into our pioneer tradition." But large majorities recognize as other sources of violence a number of conditions and influences in contemporary life.

— 83 per cent believe that "radicals who create violence on the streets" contribute appreciably to the atmosphere.

— 82 per cent hold the view that "too many criminals and demented people loose on the streets" are an important part of the syndrome of violence.

— 76 per cent feel that the racial conflict in America has contributed much to the fabric of violence.

— 62 per cent see "movies with violence in them" as a major contributor.

— 57 per cent believe that "seeing pictures of killing in war on television every night" conditions our behavior.

Acknowledge portrait

In short, the American people acknowledge a portrait of life in the country today that is a contributing factor toward violent behavior. Yet few people have concrete ideas on how society can cope with or even prevent the outbreak of disorder, much less the murder of outstanding public figures. And most see someone other than themselves as the source of the problem.

For example, surveys have shown that many whites feel black-power thrusts cause violence, but Negroes also feel that police brutality provokes outbreaks. Students feel college administrations that have lost touch or don't care lead to the frustration which evokes violence on the campus, while people observing student protests feel the students themselves are the agents of violence. People believe that criminals freed from prison are a major cause of violence but are unwilling to support measures for rehabilitating criminals into society.

People decry movies which portray violence, but set attendance records by going to such movies. The public criticizes television for being a vehicle of reporting violent acts, but the ratings show such programs capture a major share

No progress report

WASHINGTON — The scorecard of the Vietnam peace talks, which have been underway now for more than a month, has to read:

- 1—No progress to date.
- 2—No progress in sight.
- 3—No progress to be expected until Hanoi wins a major military victory against Saigon—or finds it can't.

A successful offensive would cause the North Vietnamese to say: "Now let's talk seriously." Failure could cause them to do the same.

This state of affairs should cause neither pessimism nor surprise. The non-talks are going exactly according to form and nobody familiar with Communist tactics would expect otherwise.

So far Hanoi has taken everything and given nothing in return.

After the United States stopped bombing 80 to 90 per cent of North Vietnamese territory, Hanoi responded by increasing the flow of men and arms into South Vietnam.

After the U.S. de-escalated the air war over the North, Hanoi escalated the ground war in the South.

After the U.S. ceased bombing military targets in the populous cities of North Vietnam, Hanoi stepped up its attacks on non-military targets of the most populous city of South Vietnam, Saigon.

Not surprising

None of this is surprising. The Communists planned it this way and, in official documents found on captured soldiers, said so.

It is evident that Hanoi is now attempting the key offensive by which it expects to "win" the Paris peace talks on the battlefield. Its objective is to wreak such horror and havoc on Saigon as will topple the elected government of South Vietnam and then to demand a peace of the audience. Two out of three people express the feeling that "something is deeply wrong in America," but less than a majority can find any remedy in their own conduct.

A cross section of the public was asked in this survey:

"Let me read you some statements. For each, tell me if you tend to agree or disagree with the statement."

STATEMENTS ON VIOLENCE

Individual shootings can happen any time because it only takes one madman to shoot another man — 93 per cent agree, four per cent disagree, three per cent not sure.

Control of guns might not cut down on violence at all — 45 per cent agree, 45 per cent disagree, 10 per cent not sure.

We have violence because it is built into our pioneer tradition — 22 per cent agree, 66 per cent disagree, 12 per cent not sure.

In probing for the roots of violence, a national sample was asked this series of questions:

"How much do you feel each of these things contributes to violence in this country — a lot, some but not a lot, only a little or hardly any at all?"

CONTRIBUTORS TO VIOLENCE

Radicals who create violence in the streets — 83 per cent feel some contributed, 11 per cent feel few contributed, and six per cent not sure.

Too many criminals and demented people loose on the streets — 82 per cent feel some contributed, 12 per cent feel few contributed, and six per cent not sure.

Racial conflict in America — 76 per cent feel some contributed, 17 per cent feel few contributed, and seven per cent not sure.

Movies with violence in them — 62 per cent feel some contributed, 34 per cent feel few contributed, and four per cent not sure.

Seeing pictures of killing in war on television every night — 57 per cent feel some contributed, 38 per cent feel few contributed, and five per cent not sure.

Things changing too fast for people to keep up with — 47 per cent feel some contributed, 41 per cent feel few contributed, and 12 per cent not sure.

Those who are opposed to relieving the misery of the poor — 43 per cent feel some contributed, 45 per cent feel few contributed, and 12 per cent not sure.

The problem does not appear to be the need to recognize violence in this country, but rather what to do about it. If there are any answers, the American people, in their mood of deep shock and tragedy, are ready to listen. But they are not prepared to say that their whole way of life is wrong.

settlement which would permit a Communist takeover.

In its efforts to achieve this end the North Vietnamese and Vietcong forces are deliberately aiming their attack on the civilian population of Saigon. Almost daily they are raining mortars into the crowded streets, stores, and houses where no military installations exist. As the time for such shelling, they choose the noon hour and early evening traffic rush so that the maximum number of civilians can be killed. The military damage is negligible. The recent toll of civilian deaths is over 500.

The purpose of this attack on the civilian population is openly stated in newly-captured North Vietnamese directives. They state that "unless a major military victory is achieved (by the VC), nothing can be expected" at Paris. They confirm that the victory Hanoi most wants is to undermine and destroy the Saigon government by "fierce and violent" attacks on the city.

No breaking point

I think neither side wants to break off the tenuous Paris contact. Hanoi certainly doesn't because drawn-out, non-productive negotiations are to the military advantage of North Vietnam. During the talks, while the U.S. has de-escalated much of the air war in the North, Hanoi has de-escalated nothing and has escalated the offensive against Saigon.

Apparently Hanoi remains convinced that the American people are so divided and distraught over Vietnam the U.S. government wouldn't dare risk the Paris talks by warning Hanoi that the air war will be resumed if the attacks against the civilian population of Saigon are not stopped.

This may well be Hanoi's gravest miscalculation of the will of the American people and the steadfastness of Presidential candidate.

Lester Coleman, M.D.

Hopeful news in medicine

The wonder and wisdom of the body, with all its delicate mechanisms meshing with each other to maintain good health, is a never ending source of wonderment to doctors and scientists. The smoothness with which complex and intricate processes go on day after day, makes the human body far more exciting than sending a thousand space ships to the moon and back again.

There are few real mistakes in the architecture of the body. The greatest one is probably the fact that the heart muscle itself really does not have a blood supply that is completely adequate. It is for this reason that when a coronary artery, which brings blood and oxygen to the heart muscle to keep it nourished, is closed by disease, the heart muscle dies from lack of nourishment.

One of the ambitions of surgeons has been an attempt to implant by surgery, an artery into the heart muscle to replenish the blood supply lost by coronary artery disease.

A larger artery called the mammary artery has for years been used for this purpose. Some surgeons have reported remarkable success while others have been distressed by failure.

Dr. Arthur Vineberg of Canada recently reported a series of successful implants of the heart muscle. The cases he reported were sufficiently successful, by the technique he described at a meeting of the American College of Cardiology, to stimulate other surgeons all over the country to try to duplicate this operation, which has safety and hope as its ingredients.

Patients with chronic angina, especially those who are incapacitated by the painful spasms of the heart, will be encouraged to know that so much work is being done in an effort to bring good "heart health" to such sufferers.

Opening lead—three of hearts.

Dummy play generally follows a logical process by which declarer can nearly always find the best method of play.

Here is an example of good technique in dummy play. West leads a heart, won in dummy with the ace, and South draws two rounds of trumps, discovering that East has a trump trick coming.

At this point it is clear that the contract cannot be made unless West has the king of clubs. Declarer consequently assumes the club finesse will succeed whenever it is attempted, for to assume otherwise would be acknowledging defeat.

Declarer must also consider the diamond situation. He sees that the slam is made if the diamonds are divided 3-2, and he therefore directs his thoughts to protecting against a possible 4-1 division.

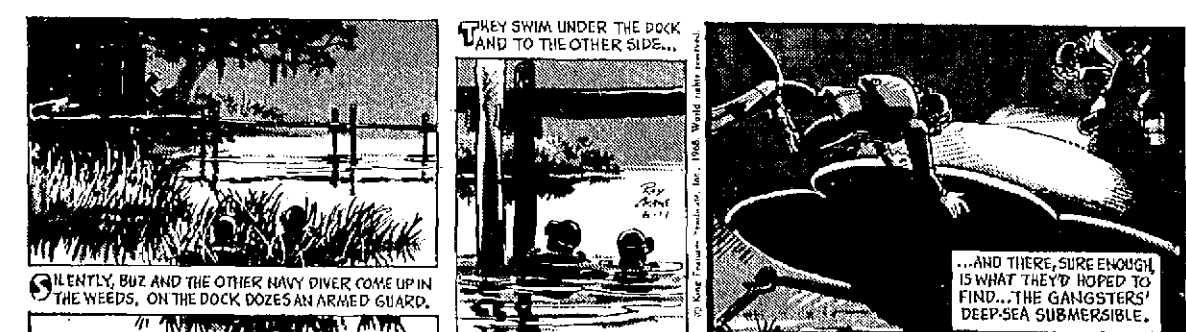

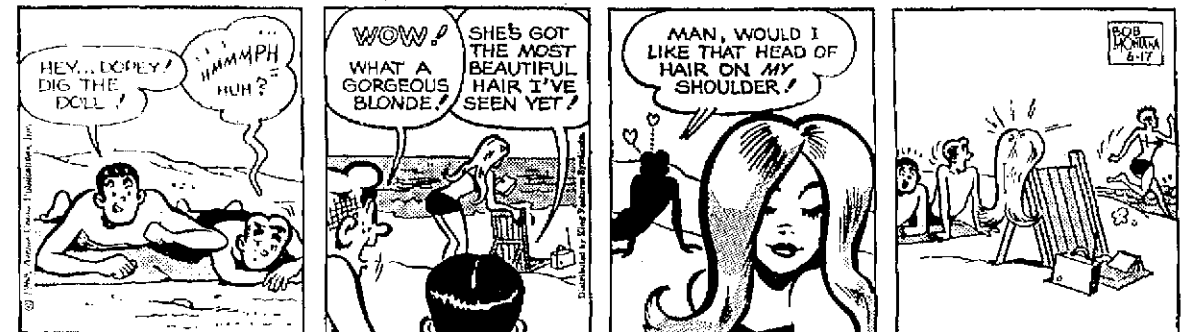

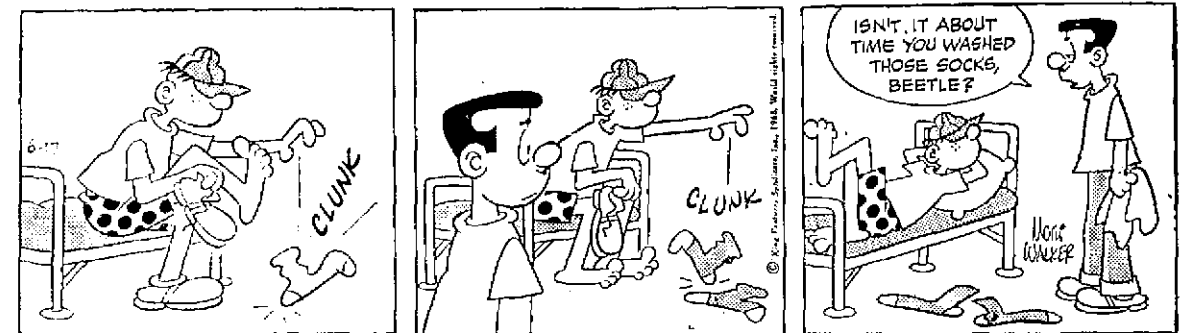

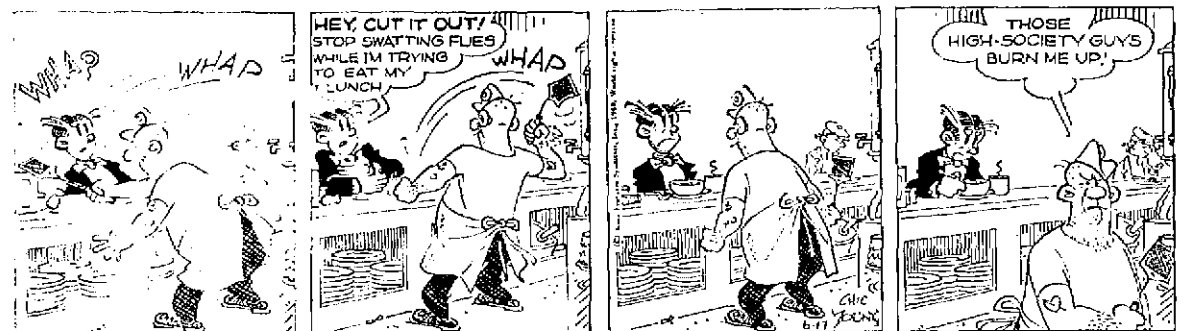

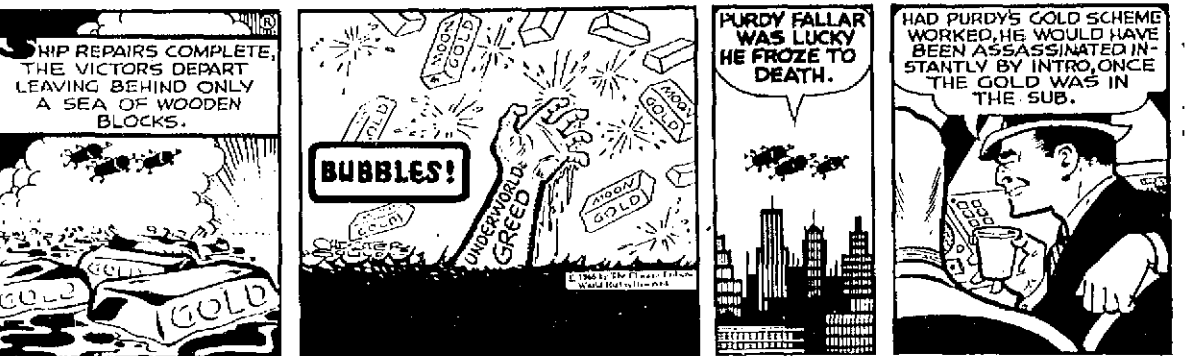

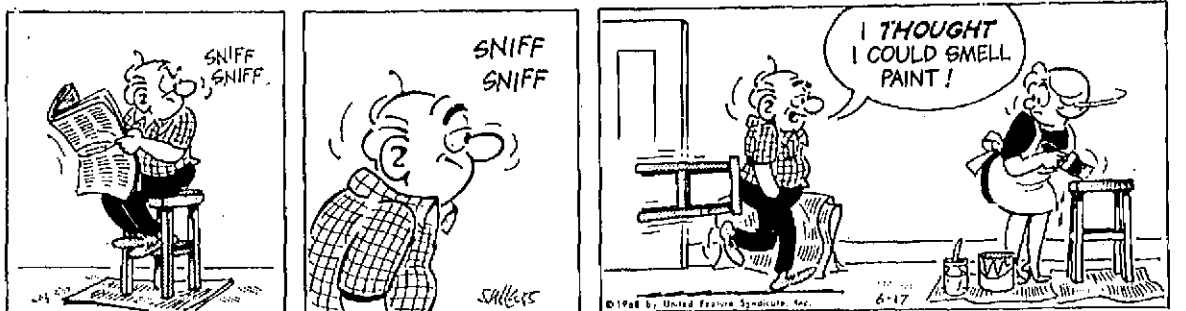

A little reflection should convince him that it is possible to overcome a 4-1 split on either side. To start with, he leads a diamond to the king and a diamond back.

As it happens, East has no more diamonds and discards a heart. (If East ruffs the diamond, South has an easy time making the rest of the tricks. Had East had the four diamonds, South would cash the A-Q and ruff a diamond in dummy.)

So declarer wins with the queen of diamonds, finesses the queen of clubs, and leads another diamond. Again East discards, since it would not help him to ruff. South wins with the ace and ruffs a diamond in dummy.

It does not matter whether East overruffs or not. He can win a trump trick now or later, but, either way, South makes six spades.

Note that declarer cannot make the slam if he does not play the diamonds in precisely this fashion. He must cash the king first and lead diamonds twice from dummy toward his A-Q. To use any other method would be fatal.

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

The Monroe County's historical pilgrimage to Trenton sounds fascinating, but it also reminds me of something that's been bothering my conscience: why I don't ferret out the historical treasures within a 100 mile radius of Monroe County with the same eagerness with which I seek out remote castles or churches in other countries.

Too many of us in our local travels use a route map instead of a guide book, intent merely on getting to our destination. Trenton, for instance, would be only a place to be by-passed on the way to the shore.

It is true that we reckon the antiquity by the 100's not 1000's of years, but they are nevertheless fascinating, if we knew where they were, and took the time to visit them.

I have at times visited the historic buildings in Bethlehem but never with the same preparation of advance reading. But I've never visited Zane Gray's home, or the Ephraim Cloisters or a hundred other interesting places within 100 miles of home.

Part of this is due to the fact that good guidebooks aren't as easy to come by here as they are in Europe where every tiny province, even the size of our county, has its own set in five or six languages. We'd only need one.

Tom Knepp has done something similar for the Poconos, but the state publications I've seen are a too sketchy for the kind of historical tour a family could plan for a Saturday trip. Some gas companies are beginning to put out such tour guides, but it takes digging to find them. If any of you has a collection of area guide books, let me know. It might make a good feature.

Linda Faye Brown, John Stevens wed.

STROUDSBURG—Miss Linda Faye Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Brown of Stroudsburg was married Saturday, June 15 at 2 p.m. to John Edward Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Stevens of Stroudsburg.

Rev. Marshall Ritt officiated at the double ring ceremony in Zion United Church of Christ in Stroudsburg. The altar was decorated with bouquets of white daisies.

Mrs. Alberta Yutz of East Stroudsburg was the soloist. The organist was Mrs. Lucy Quig of Stroudsburg.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an empire A-line gown of imported silk organza with Alencon lace and seed pearling on the bodice with detachable chapel train. A matching organza and pearl pillow held the fingertip veil of French illusion. Her cascade bouquet was of white gladioli with ivy.

Miss Kristen Scheibel of Stroudsburg was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Georgia Rovito and Miss Suzanne Stevens, cousin of the bridegroom, also both of Stroudsburg.

The attendants all wore floor-length empire gowns of maise chiffon with scoop necklines, fashioned with lantern-type sleeves and daisy trim. Their headpieces were garden hats in maise trimmed with daisies. The attendants all carried colonial bouquets with center cascades of white daisies.

William Clark of Stroudsburg was the best man. Ushers were Ronald Rovito and Gene Mutchler both of Stroudsburg.

The bride's mother wore a coat dress in mint green with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow cymbidium orchids. The bridegroom's mother wore a pale pink ensemble with matching accessories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

A reception was held at the Elks Social Club in East Stroudsburg.

After honeymooning in Williamsburg, Va. the couple will make their home at 411 Winesapauke Street, Meredith, N.H.

The bride was graduated from Stroudsburg High School in 1965 and before her marriage was employed by Monroe Security Bank and Trust Co.

Her husband was also graduated from Stroudsburg High in 1965 and Industrial Management Institute in 1967. He will begin his final year at Belknap College in New Hampshire in the fall.

A party was given, following the rehearsal, by the parents of the bridegroom.

Trenton pilgrimage for area historians

STROUDSBURG—The summer pilgrimage sponsored by the Monroe County Historical Society will this year be to historical places in Trenton, N.J. and will be held Saturday, June 22, starting at 9 a.m.

To be visited in Trenton are: The Old Barracks Building, erected in 1758 and 59 to furnish quarters for British troops during the French and Indian War and one of the finest examples of colonial barracks in the United States.

The Trent House, a brick mansion from 1719 which was the residence of Justice William Trent who named and planned the city of Trenton and which is preserved as Trenton's oldest landmark.

The State Museum which is similar to the William Penn Museum in Harrisburg.

The bus will leave from the west parking lot at Stroudsburg High School at 9 a.m. There will be a snack stop enroute and a lunch, a la carte, is planned for after the tour.

Reservations must be made today with Mrs. Robert B. Haigh, 18 South Eighth St., Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Barnhouse speaker for club luncheon

EAST STROUDSBURG — Mrs. Donald Barnhouse, mother of WCAD-TV news editor, Donald Barnhouse, will be the guest speaker at the luncheon of the Christian Women's Club of Stroudsburg on Tuesday, June 18, from 12 noon to 2 p.m. at the Holiday Inn, Minisink Hills.

The special feature of the program will be "A focus on interesting items from the Orient" by Mrs. Lord. Special music for the afternoon will be announced at the luncheon.

Room 108 is provided by the Holiday Inn for a nursery and baby sitting is available at a minimal fee.

All homemakers are cordially invited to attend. Reservations can be made by calling Mrs. Walter F. Seemiller, Cresco, or Mrs. J. Myra, Stroudsburg, R. D. 1.

Phoenix Players open meeting to public

STROUDSBURG — The Phoenix Players, community theatre group of the Stroudsburgs, has extended an open invitation to all theatre buffs to tend their monthly meeting to be held at the Penn-Stroud Hotel on Wednesday, June 19, at 8 p.m.

Theatre workshops will be held, giving everyone a chance to see how a moment of theatre is created. The program, originally planned for an earlier meeting, had been postponed.

The annual membership picnic is planned for Sunday, June 23, with the site to be announced.

Mrs. Fred Ley visits here

STROUDSBURG — Mrs. Fred Ley of Fort Pierce, Fla., a resident of the Poconos for 27 years, recently spent ten days here. She attended the wedding of a niece, Lorraine Berger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Berger to Salvatore Busceme of Easton and a family gathering at the Durland homestead.

SAFE!

The Daily Newspaper
Is the Safer, Surer
Advertising Investment

Two questions influence the choice of an advertising medium. First, what does it cost to reach a person with a sales message? Second, how many of those you reach will buy? A typical advertiser can reach a person through newspapers at least as economically as through other media. And the newspaper delivers an audience that likes to read advertising, prefers newspapers with advertising, and shops from advertising. Such an audience guarantees more sales action per message delivered, and makes newspapers the safer, surer ad medium. Why not send the daily newspaper to bat for you?

Rooney praises union work during Pressmen's banquet

ECHO LAKE — U.S. Representative Fred B. Rooney Saturday told members of the Stroudsburg Pressmen and Assistants' Union that "The labor movement has done more over the years to move our nation forward than other single force within our society."

Speaking at the annual banquet of Local No. 350 at Vacation Valley, Rooney called labor "an important keystone in our nation." This results, he said, from labor's "keen interest" in the needs of the nation as well as the workers.

Rooney, who spoke briefly and left the dinner early, said "Always labor has championed equal opportunity for all Americans, education for all youth, action to solve the problems of our cities, provisions of sound housing for all citizens, and adequate medical care within reasonable cost for our senior citizens."

He praised labor for "an active interest in the broad spectrum of legislative proposals introduced in congress, state legislatures, city and town councils" and added "Only if we face our problems and work to solve them can our nation retain the greatness it has achieved."

Rooney listed some of the "legislative milestones" which he was "able to play a role in achieving." He said education legislation has, through loans and scholarships, "puts a college education within the grasp of every child today" and added that he cast his first congressional vote in 1963 for the Manpower Development and Training Act.

Rooney praised Medicare, saying "Now senior citizens can face the future without fear that medical bills will consume their limited incomes and wipe out their life savings."

In the field of consumer protection, Rooney said, the Truth in Packaging Bill passed with the strong support of labor, as did the Automobile Safety Act, Meat Inspection Act, and Flammable Fabrics Act.

He said of the pending Occupational Safety Act: "With such a law, no longer will an employer be able to duck a responsibility to protect the health and safety of his workers." Pennsylvania, Rooney said, is one of only 12 states where "effective steps have been taken to insure maximum safety on the job."

"Congress looks to labor for its continued cooperation and interest and its dynamic support for legislation which will benefit our nation and all our citizens," Rooney said. "With your help, we can do what needs to be done to mold an even greater America for the future."

In a speech prior to awarding membership service buttons, Union President Robert E. Rice told the group that "The year is a little black at this time."

Rice, in reference to American Cam Company's announced decision to remove offset printing from the Hughes Printing Company, said the decision was "quite a shock after the time and money spent, the skills learned, and the negotiations involved with offset printing."

"We wanted offset," Rice said. "We felt we were entitled to it because we were the home plant of Hughes' and we needed it to survive in the competitive market."

Rice said that labor-management relations at Hughes Printing had always been excellent but feared such good relations were "coming to an end."

"I am bitter about the decision of American Cam Company," Rice said. "It is unjust and unfair, we have taken a step backwards."

Rice presented 20 year membership pins to Howard Sarley, George Mosher, Robert Mosher, Harry Treble, Richard James, Joseph LeBar, Irvin Marsh, and Walter Kutish. Pins for 25 years went to William Gerard, Albert Andress, Edward Maynard Jr. and Jack Detrick. Benjamin Hayden and Samuel Kupiszewski received 30 year pins. Harold Rogers, with 47 years in the union, had the longest service.

The Rev. William Wunder gave the invocation and the Rev. John J. Bendik the benediction. Joseph E. Flawing, Union secretary-treasurer, served as toastmaster.

Electrical storm kayos radio, TV

STROUDSBURG — The television schedule was rudely interrupted Saturday night when an electrical storm knocked out the TV cable serving the area.

Another storm affect developed early Sunday morning when WVPO-FM went off the air because a transmitter cable had been burned out.

The Blue Ridge Broadcasters Inc., who provide the T V cable facilities, were plagued with some 300 calls after the first call came in about 8:20 p.m. Saturday. The calls started in the West End area then became quite general all over, according to manager, Walter Radvon.

Lightning apparently damaged power supplies burning out coils and fuses. All service was corrected by 8 a.m. Sunday. Servicemen were prevented from repairing the damage until after the rain, Radvon explained.

WBVO reported its FM transmitter failed Sunday at 9 a.m., according to James Maloney, test center foreman of the Stroudsburg Bell Telephone office.

"It is unusual to see this type of trouble. The lightning burned and cut the FM transmitter cable in half. The trouble was traced to just less than a mile from the microwave tower on Delaware Water Gap mountain and repaired by Sunday afternoon. Several telephone lines were also reported knocked out due to lightning damage," Maloney said.

No major damages were reported by Pennsylvania Power and Light Co., according to Thomas Bordigan, area operating supervisor.

No damage reports were given by John Bitzer, district forester and William Quinn, county superintendent of highways, and area police units.

"It was not really a severe storm. There were one or two sharp lightning shocks, but not enough damage to call it severe," said William B. Hagerty, a U.S. Weather Bureau reporter.

There was no widespread power failure and very little rain. Only 0.2 inches of rain was recorded from the storm.

STROUDSBURG — An 18-year-old Philadelphia high school graduate attending a church retreat at Pinebrook, Camp Stroud Twp., was dead on arrival at General Hospital of Monroe County Saturday at 11:20 p.m., after drowning in a swimming pool.

John W. Saylor of 3140 N. Taylor St., Philadelphia, was among some 300 persons attending a church retreat at Pinebrook. Part of the group was in the pool for a late night swim.

Monroe County Coroner John C.F. Foelker said, "It is an accidental death caused by drowning."

"An autopsy showed the youth had died from drowning," he added.

According to the coroner's investigation, Saylor had entered the pool before the rest of the people. A girl dove into the pool and thought she brushed a hand. She came to the life guard and reported it and the body of the Philadelphia youth was found on the bottom of the pool.

Aiding Coroner Foelker was Stroud Twp. Police.

Saylor was a recent graduate of a Philadelphia high school. He is survived by his parents, Warren and Irma Saylor, at home.

Funeral services will be held Thursday in a Philadelphia funeral home with burial in Ardley Cemetery.

Lanternman Funeral Home in East Stroudsburg was in charge of local arrangements.

John Langan, ex-resident, dies at 40

IATBORO — John Langan, 40, of 58 VanHorn Drive, Iatboro died Friday after being ill for the past year.

Langan had resided in the Stroudsburg area as a youth and attended school here and married the former Audrey Field before leaving the area.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a daughter, Sharon and son John Jr., at home; three sisters: Mrs. Clare Strunk, East Stroudsburg; Mrs. John Coleman, Scranton; and Mrs. Raymond Brown of Port Monmouth, N.J. two brothers, Gerald, East Stroudsburg and Anthony, Levittown.

The funeral will be held Tuesday, 9 a.m.

Man charged with pointing rifle at wife

STROUDSBURG — Joseph Alfred Padula of Stroudsburg R.D. 2, is in Monroe County Jail in default of $2,500 bail on two gun charges.

Padula is charged by State Police from Stroudsburg with pointing a deadly weapon at a person and possession of a machine gun.

Padula allegedly fired at his wife, Caroline Padula, in the trailer of Archie Klingel at Arrow Head Camp, Hamilton Twp.

Padula was taken before Stroud Twp. Justice of the Peace Mrs. Ruth Miller where bail was set. He will be given a hearing at a later date.

Car skids, kills deer

STROUDSBURG — State Police from Stroudsburg investigated a car-deer accident on Rt. 115 in Hamilton Twp. Sunday at 3:15 p.m. The driver was not injured but a deer was killed.

Clement L. Valletta of Wilkes-Barre was traveling south on Rt. 115 when he swerved to his left to avoid hitting the deer, applied his brakes and skidded, struck the guard rail crossed the highway and came to a stop in the grass medial strip facing north.

Yost receives applied degree

STROUDSBURG — William E. Yost, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Yost, 1303 N. Fifth St., Stroudsburg, has received his associate in applied degree, Division of Commerce, from Mercer County Community College in Trenton, N.J.

EAST STROUDSBURG — Individually, open-mindedness, and intelligence, three attributes necessary for success, were stressed by the main speakers at commencement exercises Sunday at East Stroudsburg Area Senior High School.

Valedictorian Mary Kathryn Wydra told the Class of 1968 "We too must fight conformity, must question ideas that confront us, must not blindly accept precepts of the adult world."

She told the class that they must search for the true meaning of individuality. Miss Wydra suggested that "Each person must form his own ideas and opinions about the problems of today."

Salvatore Joseph Miraglia, Jr., salutatorian, said "The voice of this class will be heard, rehearsed, and echoed in all fields of our society."

Miraglia, who said the qualities of the class form one important aspect of success—intelligence, told the large crowd in the high school auditorium, "We (the class) do not belong to that over-generalized group of adolescents called uncontrollable."

"It's about time we face things as they are, not as we'd like them to be," Miraglia told the class. "And we hope that more people in the future will accept us as we are—cooperation is a two-way street, we will not fail."

Class President Gary Hamill told the class "Today we face a disease more deadly than cancer, more crippling than polio—the disease of prejudice."

He called it a disease of the mind, not of the body, and said there is "no right to condemn someone because of their heritage."

Hamill said a child is "systematically taught the rules and regulations of hatred" and only then does he become an adult. "We must unite together and destroy the malignancy of prejudice," Hamill said. "When the rights of one man are threatened, the rights of all men are diminished."

Mrs. Pauline H. Peterson, District Superintendent, presented prizes to 24 members of the 119-member class, and told the class it was "one of the finest" to come out of East Stroudsburg High School.

Irving Sommer, President of the East Stroudsburg Area School Board, presented the diplomas. He told the class "The Board of Education is quite proud of such a class—you will leave classes coming after you quite a pair of shoes to fill."

The invocation was given by the Rev. Thomas J. Cawley, Rabbi Henry Weinberg gave the Old Testament Scripture Reading the Rev. William F. Wunder gave the New Testament Scripture Reading, and Rev. Norman R. Savage gave the benediction.

The Senior Band of East Stroudsburg High School, under the direction of Robert Zellner, played the Processional, the Recessional, and "Morning, Noon and Night (in Vienna) Overture" by Von Suppe.

Miss Nancy Joy Koch conducted the Glee Club in "Choose Something Like A Star." Miss Barbara Jo Lantz was the accompanist.

Woman skids in rain storm

STROUDSBURG — A 41-year-old Scranton woman lost control of her car Sunday at 6:50 p.m. on Interstate Rt. 80 and ended up on a bank.

According to State Police from Stroudsburg, Rose Bress lost control of her car on the rain covered highway and slid up an embankment. After a wrecker was called to the scene and pulled her car back on the highway she continued on her way.

Police estimate damage to her car at $75.

Woman, son hurt in crash

FERN RIDGE — A 37-year-old New York woman and her eight-year-old son were injured Saturday in a one-car crash on Rt. 940, near Blakeslee.

Mrs. Rita S. Liguori and her son, Christian, of Bayside, L.I., N.Y., were taken to General Hospital of Monroe County where they were treated and released.

According to State Police at Fern Ridge, the Liguori car left the highway and crashed into a utility pole.

The Metropolitan Edison Company presented John A. Stein with a certificate of achievement as the 1967 nominee to the National Youth Conference on the Atom. Letters of Commendation from the National Merit Scholarship Program were given to Erik Cartwright and Timothy M. Bowman.

Chaffee back in Delaware

Swimmer visits S-burg friend

STROUDSBURG — After eight days in and out of the Delaware River, Russell Chaffee is continuing his 200 mile marathon swim today from Belvidere, N.J., to Easton.

The 42-year-old Sayre high school mathematics teacher checked in at Kittatinny Beach Saturday afternoon and stopped to visit Robert Wert, a high school friend and teacher in Stroudsburg.

"I knew about the swim Russ is making," said Wert, "and went to meet him at Kittatinny. We met at Sayre which is Russ's hometown where I spent three years as a guidance counselor in Sayre high school and did some coaching." Russ went to St. John's Lutheran church Sunday and also talked with the Sunday School class for a while. I took him back to Kittatinny about 1 p.m. and off he went for a short jaunt of 15 miles to Belvidere, his next scheduled stop."

"Some people are surprised at this but Russ has made a sort of hobby of it. He started it as a physical therapy program recommended by his doctor and through the years has eventually gained some recognition for his long distance swims," Wert said.

"He is a very intelligent man. He has his masters, and is still continuing his studies. It's a strenuous training program and he swims constantly, staying in the water for hours without coming out.

"Russ says he uses the Canadian crawl, a version of the Australian crawl and without relaxing in the water will average up to three miles an hour, depending on the current of the river.

Chaffee swims in a regular bathing suit and is well greased-down and covers about 20 miles a day. On Tuesday, he will leave Easton for Frenchtown and Wednesday continue to final destination, Trenton, N.J., where his wife, Phyllis, will pick him up for a drive to Perth Amboy where Chaffee will start the quick ocean swim to Ocean Grove.

Chaffee is being escorted by his 12 year and oldest son, Alan, by canoe. They are headed for the National Federation of Men's Bible Classes Convention at Ocean Grove on Thursday.

All the swims this year are concentrated along the historic routes of the American Revolution and significant American Indian routes, according to Chaffee, who started this last 200 mile route from Hancock, N.Y., on Sunday, June 9.

Trevino demolishes Yancey to win Open by four strokes

First tour victory is worth $30,000

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI)—Lee Trevino, the merry Mexican from El Paso, Tex., who was making $30 a week base pay as an assistant pro at a driving range a year ago, made $30,000 Sunday when he demolished Bert Yancey in a head-to-head showdown to win the U.S. Open by four strokes with a record-equalling 275.

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI)—Lee Trevino, the merry Mexican from El Paso, Tex., who was making $30 a week base pay as an assistant pro at a driving range a year ago, made $30,000 Sunday when he demolished Bert Yancey in a head-to-head showdown to win the U.S. Open by four strokes with a record-equalling 275.

Trevino, a happy, perpetually laughing 28-year-old blithe spirit who had never before won a tournament, beat Yancey exactly the way he said he would—on the back nine—with a pair of eye-popping birdies that helped him to his 36-33-69-275.

Trevino's five under-par showing over Oak Hill Country Club's lush 6,962-yard, par 70 course enabled him to equal Jack Nicklaus' one-year-old Open scoring record and become the first man ever to shoot four sub-par rounds in the Open.

Yancey, the frustrated 29-year-old Radnor, Pa., pro who had led for the first three rounds and set an Open record with his 54-hole total of 265, contributed to his own downfall.

He started the final round a stroke ahead of Trevino and was still even after eight holes, then bogeyed the ninth to fall behind and never really was heard from again.

Yancey shot a 38-38-76 for a 281 total that included seven bogeys and his collapse was so complete that Jack Nicklaus passed him to grab second place with a 67 for a 279 that earned him the $15,000 second prize.

Yancey had to settle for third place and $10,000.

Although the black-haired, tiger-like Trevino took the lead for the first time on the fifth hole, he wrapped up the Open title on the 11th and 12th with a pair of spectacular putts.

He knocked in a 35-footer on the 11th and a 20-footer on the 12th. That put him four strokes up and actually clinched the ball game.

From that point on, it was strictly downhill for the popular little Texan who had to augment that $30 a week they paid him at the driving range by giving golf lessons to the customers.

Trevino, who had stayed close to Yancey all through the tournament, played his usual steady game after he bogeyed the first hole. It was enough, as it turned out, because Yancey murdered himself with erratic putting.

Yancey, who had been the picture of precision and smoothness through the first three rounds, suddenly found his game unhinged as he stumbled in with four bogeys on the front nine. He seemingly righted himself with a 20-foot birdie putt on the sixth hole which temporarily tied him with Trevino. But when he two-putted from 21 feet for a bogey on No. 9, Trevino moved back ahead at the turn.

Both men bogeyed the first hole—Trevino when he blew a two-foot putt and Yancey when he drove the rough. Trevino, however, caught Yancey on the third hole and moved ahead on the fifth—both times when Yancey missed three-footers and found himself saddled with two more bogeys.

Yancey, bidding to become the first man since Ben Hogan in 1953 to lead the U.S. Open from start to finish, opened the

Laver whips Ralston to gain finals

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (UPI)—Rod Laver and John Newcombe set up an all-Australia final for the U.S. pro tennis championships when they captured semifinal victories Sunday at Longwood Cricket Club.

The finalists for Monday's record $8,000 top prize took opposite routes through the rain-plagued semis, Newcombe going a gruelling five-set distance while defending champion Laver roared to a straight-set triumph.

Newcombe, 23, needed 69 games spread over 3 hours and 18 minutes to eliminate still another Aussie, Tony Roche, 6-2, 6-3, 8-10, 11-13, 6-4.

Bert Yancey, who led the U.S. Open for the first three days of play, congratulates Open champion Lee Trevino. Trevino beat second place finisher Jack Nicklaus by four strokes. Yancey, left, was third, two strokes behind Nicklaus.

Wild five-run eighth carries Tigers to split

CHICAGO (UPI)—Jim Northrup's two-run double highlighted a wild five-run rally in the eighth inning which carried the Detroit Tigers to a 6-1 victory Sunday after Tommy Davis' seventh-inning homer enabled the Chicago White Sox to score a 3-1 win in the first game of the doubleheader.

The Tigers, who had been held to one hit by Ciseo Carlos for seven innings, had already scored two runs to take a 2-1 lead in the inning on a leadoff single by Tom Matchick, a hit batsman and an error by Carlos, a fluke hit when Tim Cullen failed to cover first base and a bases-filled walk by reliever Hoyt Wilhelm.

Wilbur Wood temporarily halted the rally when he got Mickey Stanley to hit into a force play at the plate but Northrup followed with his double past first and scored the fifth run of the inning on Norm Cash's single.

The White Sox had taken a 1-0 lead against Denny McLain, who scored his 11th victory against two losses, when Tommie McCraw doubled and Pete Ward singled in the second inning. The loss was Carlos' seventh against two victories.

Davis' game-winning homer in the opener came off Mickey Lolich and was the first run driven in by the left fielder since May 25.

The win went to 44-year old Wilhelm, who replaced Joe Horlen with two on and two out in the seventh.

Oakland takes pair from slumping Birds

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—Perfect-game pitcher Jim Hunter shined in relief Sunday to nail down a four-hit, 6-4 win for Lew Krausse in the nightcap and give the Oakland A's a doubleheader sweep over the slumping Baltimore Orioles after a 4-2 victory in the opener.

Sal Bando drove in three runs in the second game with a double and two singles after Mike Hershberger slammed a two-run pinchhit homer in the opener to give Chuck Dobson his first victory in Oakland Coliseum.

The Orioles, who collected only nine hits in the twin bill, have now lost 7 of their last 10 games. Three hits accounted for all but one of their runs—solo homers in the opener by newly acquired Fred Valentine and Curt Blefary and a three-run blast in the nightcap by Frank Robinson.

Mets win second for split; Selma loses 1st in opener

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cleon Jones exploited San Francisco manager Herman Franks' clever pitching ruse by doubling in one run and scoring a second in the first inning as the New York Mets posted a 3-1 victory after the Giants won the opener of a Sunday doubleheader 4-1.

Home runs by Willie Mays and Jack Hiatt backed the five-hit pitching of Ray Sadecki in the first game in which the Mets' Dick Selma went down to his first defeat after six successive triumphs.

Franks attempted to dupe New York manager Gil Hodges by starting Bill Henry, a left-hander used almost exclusively in relief, in place of scheduled right hander Bob Bolin. Henry walked leadoff relieved by Bolin after retiring Ken Boswell.

Jones, who ruined Sadecki's shutout in the first game with a ninth-inning homer, greeted Bolin with a double to left-center driving in Bosch and scored himself as Bolin uncorred two consecutive wild pitches.

Art Shamsky provided an insurance run by slamming his third homer in the fifth inning and Al Jackson preserved Danny Frisella's first victory of the season by yielding one run over the final four innings.

Frisella left the game after yielding three hits in five innings and Jackson held the Giants scoreless until the ninth when Bosch misplayed Mays' liner into a triple and Willie McCovey hit a long sacrifice fly.

Henry, making only his second start in four years with the Giants, suffered his second loss although he pitched only 1-3 of an inning and did not allow a hit.

Mays' leadoff homer in the sixth, his 12th of the season and 57th of his career broke up a scoreless duel between Sadecki and Selma in the opener and Hiatt added his second homer of the season with the bases empty in the ninth.

Sadecki, in raising his record to 7-8, was in complete charge after pitching his way out of a bases-loaded jam in the first inning. He struck out 11 and retired 14 Mets in order before Jones, playing in his first game in a week, homered.

Sweep extends Buc win streak to five

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Manny Jimenez' two-run single highlighted a four-run fifth inning which paced the Pittsburgh Pirates to an 11-2 victory and a sweep of a doubleheader with the Houston Astros Sunday after Jose Pagan drove in one run and scored two others in a 3-1 triumph.

The victories stretched the Pirates' winning streak to five games and the losses extended the Astros' losing streak to five. Jimenez' single which snapped a 2-2 tie came off Larry Dierker after the Pirates filled the bases on Maudy Wilis' double, Gary Kolb's single and stolen base and an intentional walk to Willie Stargell. The Pirates added two more runs in the inning on a walk, Donn Clendenon's single and a sacrifice fly by Fred Patek.

Clendenon singled home the Pirates' seventh run in the seventh inning and they added four more in the eighth on Gene Alley's double, a hit batsman, Manny Mota's single, Matty Alou's double and a sacrifice fly.

The Astros took a 2-0 lead against Tommie Sisk on Jim Wynn's homer following a single by Hector Torres in the third. Patek singled and eventually scored the Pirates' first run in the third and doubled home Jimenez, who had singled, in the fourth for their second run.

The Pirates overcame a 1-0 deficit in the fourth inning of the opener when Wilis and Pagan doubled and Pagan scored the go-ahead run on an infield out by Mota.

Pagan scored the Pirates' third run in the eighth when he singled and rode home on Roberto Clemente's triple.

Miss Wright wins '500' with 212

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—Mickey Wright won the first annual "500" Women's Open Golf Tournament in Indianapolis Sunday by scoring a four-under-par 68 and a 54-hole total of 212.

Miss Wright's victory—her 80th in tournament play—won for her $2,250.

Second place went to Kathy Whitworth who had a final day round of 73 for a total score of 215. Second place earnings were $1,750.

An Indianapolis woman—Mrs. Alice Dye—looked third with a final round of 73 and a total of 221. Mrs. Dye is an amateur, so does not qualify for cash winnings.

Miss Wright, who is considered one of the best women golfers in the world, had scores of 34 on both the front nine and the back nine on the way to the win. She needed only 29 puts and had no three-putts greens. She called Sunday's round the finest golf she's ever played.

Kunkletown increases PML lead

Readers scores 1st win

STROUDSBURG — Kunkletown opened up a 1½ game lead in the Pocono Mountain Baseball League Sunday as all three teams tied for second bowed.

Readers pulled the surprise of the day as it defeated Portland, 6-4, for its first win of the season.

In other games Kunkletown edged the Stroudsburg A's, 5-3; Saylorburg bombed Bowmanstown, 11-0 and West End downed Paradise, 5-3.

Paul Frailey went the route for Readers and got tougher as the game progressed as he blanked Portland the last four innings.

Les Lamber had the big blow for the winners, a two-run triple.

Dean Leslie's two-run homer over the right field fence in the 7th inning snapped a 3-3 tie and kept Kunkletown in first place. Leslie also fanned 13 in going the route.

The A's had knotted the score in the previous inning on a two-run double by Romanko.

Dave Pierson won his third straight game in a Laker uniform with a strong two-hitter. The lefty also struck out seven in the seven innings he worked. Pierson went 3 for 4 while R. Spinner and Tom Moreken each drove in three runs. One of Moreken's blows was a four-bagger.

Bob Warner's 14 strikeouts led West End to its second straight upset. Jim Carey has three of the seven hits off Warner, including a booming triple.

Too many Braves. Chicago Cubs 1st baseman Ernie Banks hit a 4th inning infield popup and Braves' 1st baseman Deron Johnson (11), 3rd baseman Marty Martinez rush to the mound but pitcher Phil Niekro gets his glove highest and makes the catch.

Braves win in 11th on Torre's hit

ATLANTA (UPI)—Joe Torre, continuing to bat 1,000 against the pitcher who heated him in April, doubled off Chuck Hartenstein with one out in the 11th inning Sunday to drive in Hank Aaron from first base and give the Atlanta Braves a 1-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Torre, who had two singles off Hartenstein last weekend in his first two tries against him since the beating on April 18, took one strike before lining a pitch to deep right center field in the game-winning hit. Torre did a dance of triumph on second base as Aaron, who had walked and was running with the pitch, crossed the plate.

Jim Britton pitched the last two innings to receive credit for the victory after Phil Niekro spaced seven hits while striking out five batters and walking three for the first nine innings. Hartenstein took over at the start of the 11th for Ferguson Jenkins, who yielded five hits in 10 innings and has been given a total of two runs by the Cubs in his last six losses.

The Cubs' best threat came in the seventh when Adolfo Phillips doubled with two out and stole third. Niekro walked Jenkins and then got Don Kessinger to hit into an inning-ending forceout.

Torre said he was conscious of the beating when he batted last weekend but that he was primarily interested this time "in getting a hit so we could win the game." Torre recalled that Aaron also had been running from first base when he was hit by Hartenstein's pitch on April 18.

Skinner: give 150 per cent to win

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Former big leaguer Bob Skinner took over Sunday as manager of the Philadelphia Phillies with the promise he would "give 150 per cent to win" and the belief he would experience no discipline problems with the club.

Skinner said he planned one set of rules, "the way professionals go about their game. That is the way it will be here."

And, Skinner said, he would talk to Richie Allen and all the players, singly as well as in groups "in all fairness to them and myself, to know each other better. It is so important to all."

Consensus, practically unchallenged, is the long standing differences between Allen and manager Gene Mauch led to the ouster of Mauch, announced Saturday.

"Richie Allen is a tremendous player. Every manager in the league would like to have him, and Bob Skinner is one of them. And I anticipate no trouble with anyone," Skinner said.

Skinner, former Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Cincinnati outfielder, and manager at San Diego last year and this, was named Phils' skipper after Mauch was fired by phone while in Los Angeles where his wife is ill.

New Phillies' manager, Bob Skinner, greets pitcher Rick Wise after Wise hit a home run in the fifth inning of the 2-1 loss to the Dodgers. Skinner took over the Phils Sunday, replacing Gene Mauch, who was fired Saturday.

Dodgers spoil Skinner's debut

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Reliever Jim Brewer turned back a seventh inning threat by striking out Richie Allen with the bases loaded Sunday to preserve a 2-1 victory for the Los Angeles Dodgers over the Philadelphia Phillies and spoil the debut of Bob Skinner as Phillies manager.

The Dodgers' winning run off loser Rick Wise before a Bat Day crowd of 29,004 came on a passed ball by catcher Mike Ryan in the fourth and gave Dodger starter Claude Osteen his first victory in Connie Mack Stadium in two years.

Wise, dropping his fourth in a row and his first to the Dodgers since his rookie year of 1964, gave up the Dodgers' first run in the third when Wes Parker hit a long smash to the centerfield scoreboard. Johnny Callison leaped high to glove the ball but it fell out for a triple. Len Gabrielson scored Parker with a sacrifice fly.

Bob Bailey opened the Dodgers fourth with a single and went to third on a single by Zoilo Versalles with Versalles taking second on the play at third. Osteen popped out, but Ryan let a pitch get away with Parker batting and Bailey scored.

Wise put the Phils in the game when he hit his first major league homer in the fifth to cut the Dodger lead to 2-1. Then in the Phils seventh, Ryan singled with one out and pinch batter Don Lock doubled him to third. John Purdin relieved Osteen and walked Rojas to load the bases.

Brewer came on and got Callison on a pop foul and struck out Allen swinging to end the threat.

The Dodger lefty gave up one infield single in the final two innings.

Worried about answering a blind box number ad?

(because you don't know who the advertiser is?)

If you are worried about answering one of these blind ad-

-sances it may be your own firm simply do this:

Place your letter of application in an envelope addressed to the box number and seal it. Then put the envelope in another envelope addressed to the Classified Dept., The Pocono Record, and enclose the names you do

NOT want to receive your reply.

If one of the companies (or individuals) you listed placed the ad, we will simply discard your reply. Sorry, but we cannot return your letter without violating the confidence of our advertisers.

JACK O'BRIAN'S

New York's Voice of Broadway

NEW YORK — Fellow with a delicate set of taste buds and a typewriter knocked 10 assorted Manhattan restaurants right on their ambience in a current national magazine and stated unequivocally they are "New York's Ten Most Overrated Restaurants." Provocative title. And mostly correct, in the gospel according to our taste. We disagree sharply at placing several on the list, or even in the same faintly spiced and herbed breath with the others.

La Grenouille, at 3 E. 52nd St., hardly is an overrated restaurant except by the aforementioned critic. No other restaurant since Le Pavillon until its dictatorially cranky genius Henri Soule died has won such an unanimous accolade from the finest paying gourmets and responsible critics. La Grenouille does not advertise, knocking out one of the article's accusations. Its enthusiasts are legion and gastronomically satisfied, not syphophantic.

Certainly it is "chic," the firmly established in-place for the celebrated and the rich, and that also is one of owner Charles Masson's burdens. He did not wish its several years of praise and riotous popularity. Just a nice profitable French restaurant which has enjoyed, or suffered perhaps, the crush of high fashion and the custom of royalty from Windsor to Kennedy; but you can't hide superb food in New York so instead it is the current delight of all who felt homeless at dinner time after Henri Soule died and the next management of the Pavillon left it drift into the apathetic third rate from which it is being resuscitated by young Stuart Levin, its present controlling owner. So we must fault the "Overrated" list for including La Grenouille.

We also call a fault if not a foul in its listing The Colony, a lovely restaurant at 30 E. 60th St., whose comestibles we have enjoyed some 25 years and would hardly turn up so regularly if the grub weren't great; it is.

La Cote Basque, operated by

Henri Soule's widow, is our third exception to the list's miscellany; it is a splendid restaurant in a richly proper luxurious premises at 5 E. 52nd St., site of the original Pavillon, and an honorable family inheritor and retainer of the late grumpy Henri's brilliant ministrations. Try it. Expensive, as all the above are also, but for those who can afford it, superb.

The others on the list are somewhat below the food and mood standards of the aforementioned. They include Le Veau D'Or, Voisin, Le Mistral, Lafayette, Romeo Salta, Sign of the Dove, and the Spanish Pavilion. For various reasons, excepting possibly Lafayette, the others range all the way back to third and fourth rate but with excessively high prices.

Lafayette has fine food but the management seems to have taken on airs not even the late tantrummy Soule might have affected. Still, the Lafayette may have its point — it doesn't like clients wearing mod-clothes, turtleneck sweaters and other spuriously stylish uniforms.

Neither do several of the best restaurants in New York. Still, asking a customer to remove her sunglasses from the top of her hair, where they have been pushed (by the always ladylike Angela Lansbury no less!) or else leave, strikes up as a bit of overly seasonedchutzpah but still, not even that involves the food, which is first rate.

The Spanish Pavilion tried to repeat its success at the last New York World's Fair and failed; and, of course, it was a good enough restaurant for a fair; a fair restaurant; as it remains.

Many a Manhattan restaurant wins extended deserved popularity because of a number of elements: the Plaza Hotel's Oak Room for instance is one of the great rooms of a great city. The food is good, not quite wonderful, but dependably tasty and well served. Meanwhile, Trader Vic's in the Plaza's basement might be noted as overrated except that few ever have rated it high, so it is popular on its own muted level, especially on Sunday nights, when so few New York restaurants are open at all.

Chinese food? Our favorites are King Dragon, 3rd Ave. north of 73rd St., and Bill Chan's on 2nd Ave. near 45th St.

The King Cole Bar of the St. Regis manages a stubborn distinction even though the rest of the hotel has gone into chain — hostelry monotonous service; credit the elegant Bert at the King Cole Room's door, and an unpretentiously tasty menu; fairly expensive. The tipoff on a New York hotel's food is how many New Yorkers you see; and the King Cole bar's percentage of cheery Manhattanites, like the Plaza's Oak Room's, is high.

Never do you find Dinty Moore's Restaurant on 46th St. W. of Broadway on these magazine-gourmet lists — and it is the finest American restaurant in the world. There is a touch of Irish (Irish Stew and Corned Beef & Cabbage) but the rest is magnificently simple American food, using the finest meats, vegetables and minor specialties (its salad is unique and superb); its ambience remains as built — all shiny white ceilings, mirrored walls, dark oak trim, old fashioned waiters in long spotless-white aprons and owner Anna Moore in serene expression and red hair at the most crucial spot of all — where she can overlook both the cash register and the kitchen.

Lehman okays one per cent income tax

BUSHKILL — The one per cent earned income tax was unanimously adopted by the Lehman Township Board of Supervisors Friday night.

The township, a part of the East Stroudsburg Area School District, will allow the school district to retain 80 per cent of the tax while the township keeps the remaining 20 per cent.

The township is legally entitled to collect 50 per cent of the tax. After December 31, 1968, the township will collect the 50 per cent, however.

In other action, supervisors designated H. A. Berkhimer Associates, Bangor, as collectors for the tax.

Gift of grass

The other day I was summoned rather excitedly to the garage to see our new lawn mower.

"Isn't that precious?" I said, "What is it?"

"It's a lawn mower, you dummy," said my husband. "I want to show you how it works. First, you stand on the right-hand side of it..."

"Right hand," I interrupted, "let's see, the right hand is the one I write with, isn't it? Okay, I think I follow you."

"Then you lift up this handle and give it a twist clockwise. What could be simpler?"

"Of course, sometimes I write with my left-hand. It isn't too easy to read, but..."

Quit clowning. "Will you quit clowning around," he snarled, "I'm only trying to help you so when you cut your grass you won't cut your stupid foot off."

"Since when did I get custody of the grass?" I shouted.

"Let's not go into that. Now here's the deal on the oil. All you do is give this handle a little twist and voila, your oil is mixed with your gas. Got it?"

"That is cute," I giggled. "Would you mind going over that again? When you say 'viola' your Adam's apple jiggles up and down."

"I said you give this handle a little twist and your oil is mixed with your gas. Now remember the bag that I bought for your other mower?"

"I'll never forget it," I said, "It was my Mother's Day present last year."

"Right. Well, this one comes with a bag of its own. You just fit it over this opening here and then you won't have to spend all your home raking up the clippings and ruining our lawn."

"How come it's 'my' grass, but 'our' lawn?"

"Look, you're making too much of this. I thought one of these new mowers would thrill you half to death. You've always complained about the old one. How the carburetor leaked oil and the blades needed sharpening every two weeks and how you had to set the wheels up and down and tear down the gas lines and clean the gasket. Why, you ran that mower like a pit mechanic from the Indianapolis 500."

"Stand to the right of the mower," I stammered. "Actually, sometimes I don't use either hand to write. I call on the phone instead."

"I can't figure you out sometimes," he snarled starting the mower and beginning to cut the grass.

And when he does, friends, we're back to my grass.

Hazardous life

Dear Ann Landers: What is this world coming to? It seems like the only place a person is safe anymore is in his grave. Last fall an airliner crashed into a row of houses and a dozen people were killed in their living rooms or asleep in their beds.

Several weeks ago a mother in Miami was walking in a park with two little children — one a baby in a carriage. A drunk driver missed the corner turn and drove up on the sidewalk and killed the mother and the baby.

Recently a neighbor told me her cousin's children were playing in their own backyard when a pack of wild dogs jumped the hedge and almost tore the children apart.

Every day we read of senseless killings on the streets of the big cities — in broad daylight, and often with onlookers who did nothing to help the victim.

I am a teen-ager who is wondering if people are safe anywhere. Please give me some encouragement. I am —

OLD BEFORE MY TIME

Dear Old: Life today is somewhat more hazardous because (1) there are more people and they are living closer together. (2) There are more ways for people to get killed due to technological "progress." (3) More nats have guns than ever before which means more people are going to be shot.

Yet in spite of all this, the insurance actuaries show that every male born in 1967 can expect to reach 68 years of age. Every female can expect to live at least three years longer. Medical science is largely responsible for lengthening the life span.

So stop worrying. Your chances today are actually better than ever. Besides, worry can shorten your life.

Dear Ann Landers: A friend of mine asked me to drive down to the courthouse with her so she could "straighten around" her driver's license. It seems that when Polly renewed her license her hair was dark brown. She is now an ash blonde.

Polly took her license out of her purse and I noticed she had given her age as 48. I happen to know she is 53. When I called this "error" to her attention she replied, "I don't think it's anybody's business how old I am."

It occurred to me that Polly might get into trouble if it were discovered she gave a false age. What about this?

— GLENVIEW, ILLINOIS

Dear Glen: State laws vary, but in Illinois, if a person knowingly makes a false statement when applying for a license he may suddenly find his license revoked.

More and more (thank heaven) state laws are being passed which require that everyone over 60 years of age take an examination in order to get his driver's license renewed. This makes it imperative that people be truthful about their age.

Confidential to Tired of Love: What you are tired of isn't love. He sounds like a dingbat and you sound a little cuckoo yourself.

How far should a teenage couple go? Can necking be safe? When does it become too hot to handle? Send for Ann Landers booklet, "Necking and Pelting — What Are The Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.
